The design of the villas incorporates the principles of Feng Shui, a philosophy with ancient roots. It is designed for those who seek to escape the stress of city life. When designing the villa, the goal was to provide a connection with nature. This is achieved through large windows that allow the breeze to circulate and create a visual connection with the surrounding greenery.

The villa's layout separates sleeping areas from common areas to ensure privacy and connectivity. Bathrooms feature handcrafted bathtubs. The colors of the interior and roof, as well as the greenery of the garden and the color of the pool, are chosen to remind one of the sea.
