This extraordinary Historic Villa is located in Novi Ligure, framed by a wonderful fenced garden of approximately 4 hectares.

The residence, characterized by impeccable preservation, extends over a total area of about 2300 square meters, including a villa spread over three levels, an annex, and over 400 square meters of various amenities. Originally a hut, the structure was later expanded and transformed into a residence of great value thanks to the intervention of the Genovese nobleman Andrea Doria.

The upper part of the dwelling, built in 1800, was adorned with splendid frescoes painted by a famous Italian painter. Architectural elements of exquisite craftsmanship, such as majestic columns, Carrara marble fireplaces, richly decorated statues, imposing stairs, and Venetian mosaics, reflect the elegance and refinement of the owning family.

The evocative atmosphere of the villa is enriched by picturesque corners, charming balustrades, ancient wells, romantic berceaus, and period statues.

These details take the observer on a journey through time, making the Villa a perfect combination of timeless elegance and grandeur. The property also features outdoor facilities suitable for receptions and conferences.
