In this historic and romantic city, the apartment is located on the second floor and consists of an entrance hall leading to an open-concept space with a spacious living room with a kitchen, and a dining area. The entire space is illuminated by daylight throughout the day, with the help of renovated woodwork and good orientation. The rest of the apartment has two bedrooms, a storage room, and a bathroom.

The apartment includes the use of the common courtyard of the building with a beautiful old well, as well as a roof terrace with a view of the sea.
