The Burj Khalifa, known as the Burj Dubai prior to its inauguration in 2010, is a skyscraper in Dubai, United Arab Emirates. Burj Khalifa is surrounded by an eleven-hectare (27-acre) park. Like the tower, the park's design was based on the flower of the Hymenocallis a desert plant. At the centre of the park is the water room, which is a series of pools and water jet fountains. Benches and signs incorporate images of Burj Khalifa and the Hymenocallis flower.
