We present to your attention another object of complex development. It is being built in Nisantasi, which is an elite district of Istanbul. The most significant phrase in this description is complex development. Here, on 97,000 square meters, residents will have everything they need for a full and comfortable life. The developer sells residential areas and commercial premises. In total, there are 62 apartments for living, 99 premises for offices where you can open your own business. There is also a comfortable hotel with 146 cozy rooms. There is a shopping center with a wide range of goods. There is a parking lot that can accommodate 600 cars. And this is only a part of what is in this complex. There are 99 office premises for sale, as well as retail space, which can easily accommodate shops and boutiques, or catering establishments. The building in which the shopping center is located is a real work of architecture. Each of its floors has a different design. This project is carefully thought out in its composition. For the convenience of visitors to the shopping center, one exit from the metro is directed directly to the shopping center, on level 3. This space will be used as a gallery.
