Completely different country! Absolutely not what you are used to seeing Turkey - contrasting architecture, colorful streets filled with high-end restaurants, numerous galleries, boutiques and shops with fresh pastries. All this, the most atmospheric corner of Istanbul is the elite type of Nisantasi. It is here and now that a grand complex development of 97,000 square meters rises, in the territory of which you will find everything you can think of. You can purchase residential premises directly from the developer: at the moment, 62 apartments are available for purchase. The project also provides for a territory for commercial activities, namely 99 office premises, a hotel with 146 rooms and a large number of other retail areas designed to accommodate branded stores, boutiques and catering establishments. The focus of the project is the construction of a unique shopping center with a parking lot for 600 cars. Getting into the building by moving on underground transport, you will immediately find yourself on the third level of the complex, where an amazing gallery will open to your eyes. The design of the floors of the building differs from each other in style and atmosphere. Each level appears as a separate work of architectural art. Everything, from the smallest detail to the complete image, you can appreciate.
