We invite you to consider the recently built object of complex development. It is located in Nisantasi, a prestigious and even elite district of Istanbul, the largest city in Turkey. The main words in this description are complex development, because it occupies a rather large area equal to 97 thousand m. Everything that is needed for a comfortable and cozy life of a person is located here: 62 apartments, a medium-sized hotel with 146 rooms, a large shopping center, almost 100 offices, parking for 600 places. And this is only a small part of the existing infrastructure of this place. Inside the complex there are well-equipped and safe playgrounds, areas for sports and recreation, there are paths for walking. The complex is located right in the city center. In just five minutes you can get to the Taksim district, ten to fifteen to the Mecizhiköy and Zinçirlikuyu districts, about twenty to Levent, and it will take forty minutes to get to Istanbul Airport. Medical institutions and educational structures are within walking distance. The style of the complex is perfectly combined with the historical objects located in it. At the same time, the new buildings are equipped with all modern conveniences. Integrated development is the embodiment of a harmonious combination of historical values and the comfort of newfangled solutions.
